In 2003, the actor Emilio Estevez became inspired by his son's walk along the Camino de Santiago – an ancient pilgrimage journey leading to the shrine of the apostle Saint James the Great in the cathedral of Santiago de Compostela in northwest Spain. Each year, hundreds of thousands of pilgrims flock to complete this pilgrimage journey (including our own Ben Blake!). Travelers often begin in the Pyrenees Mountains of France, though other routes exist, starting in Portugal or the Basque region. Last year, 450,000 pilgrims completed the journey – 250,000 of whom went along the French Way, which is 500 miles long and takes roughly 34 days to complete. Learning about this rich spiritual practice, Estevez's imagination was captivated.

Eventually, his fascination led to his writing and directing the film, The Way, in which his own father, Martin Sheen, starred. Sheen, who is a devout Christian in real life, starred as a father whose estranged son had tragically died along the Camino. Traveling to Spain to retrieve his son's remains, he learns of his son's apparent faith – a faith he himself does not have. To honor his son and to try to understand him better, he decides to finish his son's walk, scattering his ashes while meeting pilgrims along "the way". What results is a deepening not only of his own faith, but of his relationship with his lost son.

Talking with Ben this week about this pilgrimage, commonly referred to as "The Camino" (or The Way), Ben shared with me that after leaving the Pyrenees, there is a stretch of probably 10 days known as "The Meseta", where the terrain is flat and pretty unremarkable. Ben said that, for many people, this section marks the truly contemplative part of the journey. Pilgrims have gotten past the initial excitement and the stunning scenery, and with that flat plain, reality sets in and the journey comes into focus. Ben said it is even marked with a sign that reads, "are you ready to listen?"

Thinking about that question, I wonder what Lent would be like if we set out with that question in mind: "are you ready to listen?" Often our lives are so amped up with busy schedules and never-ending checklists, but what if in Lent we intentionally found a way to breath, to find that flat plain within ourselves, and allowed that question – "are you ready to listen?" – to guide our footsteps? In worship this Lent, we are going to spend time focusing on the way of Christ and the kingdom of God. Hopefully it will be like a pilgrimage, filled with opportunity for growing deeper in our faith and closer to one another. Maybe the most helpful thing we can do along the way is to be sure to take a breath, to find that flat plain, and to ask ourselves: "are we ready to listen?" This Lenten season, may it be so.

Christine

PS – Ben is scheduled to leave at the end of April to walk The Camino again!

Do You Have A Plan For Lent?

Lent is a time of preparation for the observance of Christ's death and resurrection. Christians often use this time to purify our minds and hearts. Instead of practicing self-denial, many use this time to make changes in their lives as a means of glorifying God. We can choose this Lent to focus on God's creation and our desire to care for this amazing gift God has entrusted to us, by reevaluating our use of plastics that are so pervasive.

Refuse, Reduce, Reuse, Recycle... "Refuse" makes the greatest impact in reducing pollution.

The Challenge: Plastic Reduction Action Plans. Try one new action for Lent; your choice.

1. Take the "No Plastic Bottle Pledge" and refuse to buy or accept single-use plastic bottles. Instead buy a metal water bottle to refill and carry with you.
2. Transition from using disposables such as razors, paper towels, plastic, paper & Styrofoam cups and plates, paper napkins, plastic tableware and tablecloths, carry-out boxes, dryer sheets, sanitizing wipes, baby diapers, Swiffer sheets, liquid soap bottles and body wash bottles.. and more.
3.
 - a. Avoid plastic shopping bags by taking canvas/reusable bags to the store.
 - b. Skip the plastic produce bags too; it's OK for produce to touch each other.
 - c. Wash & reuse baggies. Please make a mental note of how many plastic shopping bags you refused and how many baggies you washed for reuse. Let's see how many bags HB can save..1000-5000..?

And don't forget to use our HB Recycling Center in the Drop Closet for batteries, ink cartridges, used candles, new & used greeting cards, unusable clothing (GAIA), eyeglasses & hearing aids. Drop new & used shoes in the WaterStep bins outside HB's living room.

Please take the challenge. Then reward yourself the step you have taken.

From your Hunger-Justice-Earth Care Ministry team.

Deacon's Corner

Welcome new Board of Deacon members and new Deacons and thank you for serving a very important ministry of the church.

You will be notified when the training session for new Deacons will be held and the date of installation and ordination of all new Elders, Deacons, and Trustees.

For all current Deacons, thank you for your continued dedication in caring for your flocks. Please continue to contact them regularly and pray for them daily.

The Board of Deacons

Beloved Community

Beloved Community will be hosting an interactive workshop on "Racial Implicit Bias" led by Dr. Veda Pendleton, author, advocate, consultant, educator, and Presbyterian Elder (HBPS). As preparation for the workshop, people are encouraged to read the book, So You Want to Talk About Race by Ijeoma Oluo (see Christine's cover article).

The workshop is sponsored by the Mid-Kentucky Presbytery, Beloved Community, Shawnee and Harvey Browne Presbyterian Churches and will be held on March 25 from 9:30am – 1:00pm in Harvey Browne's Emory Hall. Lunch will be catered by Francos.

Childcare is available, please sign up by calling Julie Rousseau at 896-1791 Ext. 119 by March 9th

Notes From Session

The Session of Harvey Browne Presbyterian Church held a stated hybrid meeting on February 7. Following an opening prayer by April Davenport Dan Askins the following business was handled:

- Approved beginning the search process for an Associate Pastor. Rev. Marissa Galvan-Valle, chair of the Presbytery's Commission on Ministry (COM) spoke to session to discuss the process. COM will assign a member of COM to be our liaison in the call process. First step will be forming an Associate Pastor Nominating Committee.
- Endorsed Meg Buckner as an Inquirer for Ministry under the care of Harvey Browne's Session.
- Christine gave her pastor's report.
- Approved the recommendation from Harvey Browne Preschool to remove the stipulation that the chair of the preschool board should be required to serve on session during the term as preschool board chair. The board chair will report to the Christian Education Committee, the preschool board chair and director will report annually to session and will include a report in the annual Ministry Overview.
- Approved the 2023 Operating Budget.
- Approved adding the 2022 budget surplus of $34,644.07 to Facilities Reserves.
- Approve the baptism of Felix Chester Clardy, son of Will & Talley Clardy on Sunday April 9, 2023 during 10:30 worship.
- Heard reports from committees.

Next stated meeting will be March 7.

Harvey Browne Book Clubs

Everyone is welcome whether you have read the book or not. If you buy your book at Carmichael's and mention Bookanalia or Booktalk at Harvey Browne, you will receive 20% off.

Bookanalia

Bookanalia for Wednesday, March 15th at 6:15 by Zoom and in the Session Room will be Braiding Sweetgrass: Indigenous wisdom, scientific knowledge, and the teachings of plants by Robin Wall Kimmerer. As a gifted storyteller and a member of the Citizen Potawatomi Nation and a college professor of Botany, the author blends two diverse ways of viewing the world to enrich our understanding and appreciation of all that surrounds us. Join us whether you have read the book or not. If you buy your book at Carmichael's, mention Bookanalia at Harvey Browne and receive a discount.

Booktalk

Booktalk for 11:30 on Tuesday, March 28th on Zoom and in the Living Room will be At the Edge of the Haight by Katherine Seligman. This memorable book is about some unhoused teens in San Francisco who are living in a public park and the camaraderie as well as the risks they encounter. All are welcome whether you have read the book or not, so bring a sandwich and a drink and join us. If you buy your book at Carmichael's, mention Booktalk at HBPres and receive a discount.

Pastor's Book Club

This month, we will continue to discussion of Ijeoma Oluo's book, So You Want To Talk About Race. Last month, we read through chapter 7. This month, we will read the remainder of the book and join for conversation on Sunday, March 19 at 4:00 PM.

This book is offered, in part, as a primer for the Beloved Community's workshop on Racial Implicit Bias. We hope that even if you were unable to attend the book discussion last month, you will still join us. It is such a practical, important book. Pick up a copy and join in the conversation!

Thank You

Thank you so much for all of the birthday cards that I received. I guess you have to turn 99 to realize how many wonderful people there are at Harvey Brown and how special they are to me. I am blessed to be part of this community.

Thank you ❤️

Women's History Month - Celebrating the Gift Of Women

This year, Celebrate the Gifts of Women reflects on who Mary is, her prayerful song and the sisterhood between Mary and Elizabeth. Mary had little to no influence in her world, yet the angel called her “favored” (Lk. 1:28), favorecida. We have been called—individually and collectively—to be partners in the building of God’s kingdom, that Jesus proclaimed. While we may encounter biases, preconceptions or misconceptions about gender, identity, race, age and personal or physical conditions, we know that God calls and empowers us to minister in our families, communities and the world.

Below is a piece of history of Presbyterian Women in the Presbyterian Church.

Presbyterian Women’s predecessor organizations began more than 200 years ago when women had no role outside the home. Despite numerous societal restrictions, the women’s organizations gained respect, especially that of missionaries in the field who requested women’s donations and prayers.

In the mid-1800s, with civil strife in the nation, the church split; it would be many years before the wounds were healed and the northern and southern branches of the church were reunited. The work of Presbyterian women varied with the cultural backgrounds of North and South. Despite regional differences, Presbyterian women have always been in the forefront of national movements. Presbyterian women have long advocated for women and children, and crusaded for the right to fair, paid work for African Americans, Native Americans, people of Appalachia and immigrants. They went into the field to actively do something about a host of other societal problems.

In the late 1800s the mission work of Presbyterian women broadened to include areas in Alaska and San Francisco, with a particular focus on Asian women. By answering God’s call, women’s work in the church and in society was validated, and the role of women in both foreign and home missions expanded throughout the 19th century.

In 1872 the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in North America (UPCNA) asked women members to devise some way to systematically raise money to support women missionaries in the field. In 1875 Sarah Foster Hanna spoke to the General Assembly and received permission to establish the first national organization for women in a Presbyterian denomination, the Women’s General Missionary Society. Southern women were more hesitant about organizing a churchwide missionary society; it took the women of the Presbyterian Church in the United States (PCUS) more than 26 years to get permission to set up a national women’s organization, Women of the Church. Presbyterian women’s financial support of missions was phenomenal and included the Thank Offering (begun in 1888) and the Birthday Offering (begun in 1922), both of which continue today.

To be continued...1900’s to present day

Harvey Browne Mission Co-Workers Betsy and Eric Moe

Betsy and Eric Moe Guatemala: Betsy works with CEDEPCA (Intercultural Encounters Program of the Protestant Center for Pastoral Studies in Central America) as a facilitator of healthy cross-cultural relationships. She explains, "CEDEPCA designs intercultural encounters with a focus on developing relationships." The Moes help host groups for in-person visits such as the one recently made by their home church, Hamblen Park Presbyterian Church in Spokane, and currently by Nacoochee Presbyterian Church (Georgia), November 9 - 18.

When in-person mission trips aren't an option, an opportunity we can take advantage of is CEDEPCA's ongoing "Virtual Journeys" to Guatemala. A book CEDEPCA recommends is Freeing Congregational Mission: A Practical Vision for Companionship, Cultural Humility, and Co-Development; a chat with the authors was the focus of the last Virtual Journey.

Check out the recording: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=bflzO_po0F0&t=64s. On virtual journeys, you'll consider questions such as "What is the "New Face of Mission" in a world still reeling from colonialism?"

The Moes traveled to Spokane to reconnect with family and church partners this summer. Upon return to Antigua, they attended a gathering of mission co-workers from Latin America and the Caribbean in Costa Rica. Eric and Betsy are pictured here with two of their three children, Zoey and Owen.

To send a personal greeting, email the Moes at betsy.moe@pcusa.org and eric.moe@pcusa.org. You can donate directly to their ministry at <https://www.presbyterianmission.org/donate/E132192/>.

Adult Mission Trip

Sharing Our Journey

Save the Date - Adult Missions Trip - Plans are in development for a one week adult mission trip to Eastern Kentucky. Hopefully we will find a location to host our trip sometime during the first two weeks of October. Set aside October 1 - 14 until we can narrow down the dates to one week.

Sharing Our Journey: We continue our Lenten study of the book, Meeting Jesus at the Table: a Lenten Study by Cynthia M. Campbell and Christine Coy Fohr. Please Join us as we journey through Lent. The study ends on April 2, Palm Sunday.

In Memory of Diane DeLong

Last fall, Diane DeLong passed away unexpectedly at her home on September 14, 2022. Diane was an active member of the Harvey Browne Presbyterian Women participating in Circle A as well as the PW Coordinating Team. She had used her nursing skills since retirement volunteering at the Hildegard House.

Circle A members chose to honor Diane's compassion by donating funds to purchase a large Kroger Gift Card for the Hildegard House.

This gift will enable the non profit organization to provide special food requests for the individuals at the end of life who have no home or loved ones to care for them.

Easter Breads

It is time to dust off those cookbooks to look for Easter Bread recipes. Once again we will have an Easter morning gathering in Emory to share bread and coffee & juice before Easter Worship. Recipes are found on pages 162-173 in our HB cookbook "Hot Browne A Second Helping." More information and sign-ups to come. If you need an HB cookbook just ask the church office or find recipes by googling Easter Breads. Have fun!
