A few weeks ago the families of the church had their annual Camp Out at Cedar Ridge. Despite the challenges the weather served up this year, it still proved to be a rich time of connection. We sat around picnic tables and shared meals, we made nature-based crafts, we played, and we explored the joys and mysteries of the natural world. In this fast paced, always plugged-in world, we took a few hours away to connect with our community, to deepen relationships between kids and grown-ups, to deepen our connection with God's creation.

As people wired for connection, what a gift the relationships we have with one another are. During the act of creating God declares that it is not good for one to be alone. And so, we connect to community - friends and neighbors, church community and other groups that keep our soul tethered to the web of love God has weaved in and through the world. Love that the Spirit playfully and creatively draws us into for connection with God and with one another.

And yet, sometimes connection is hard. We have limitations, we are met with barriers - within or outside of our control. Sometimes connection just feels impossible.

In those times, I think of the hymn "Spirit, Open My Heart" (set to the tune WILD MOUNTAIN TIME). The refrain goes like this: Spirit, open my heart to the joy and pain of living. As you love may I love, in receiving and in giving. Spirit, open my heart.

Whether we are hindered from remaining vulnerable to our emotions and the humanity of other people, or we are quite simply swamped by the pain and suffering of the human experience, the Spirit accompanies us.

May we be courageous children of God, open to the joy and pain of living. May God grant us strength when the days are hard, and may we continue to live into opportunities to be connected to one another and our Creator, whose love is unending and whose connecting power is unmatched.

With gratitude for this connectional community of faith,
Katherine

ECHOES OF THE GREAT WAR: SONGS AND STORIES OF WWI

Join us on Wednesday, November 4 in the chapel at 6pm for “Echoes of the Great War: Songs and Stories of WWI,” a lecture recital that explores the First World War through the voices of those who lived it. Featuring historian Robert Rennie, PhD, and Megan Durham, mezzo-soprano, and collaborative pianist Chris Harbeson-Borgelt, this program weaves together poetry, historical narrative, popular songs, and art song to trace the arc of the war from the optimism of 1914 through the devastation of the trenches and into the lasting legacy of remembrance. Audiences will encounter works by composers and poets whose lives were shaped by the conflict—including George Butterworth, Ralph Vaughan Williams, Ivor Gurney, James Reese Europe, Liza Lehmann, Cecil Coles, Rupert Brooke, and Wilfred Owen. Accessible to both music lovers and history enthusiasts, this engaging lecture recital offers a thoughtful and moving exploration of how music bears witness to history, preserving stories of hope, sacrifice, loss, and resilience that continue to resonate today.

A STORY THAT STILL SPEAKS

On Wednesday, October 7, from 6:00–7:00 p.m., we will welcome Dr. Renee Maltinaa Ann Campbell to Harvey Browne for a special presentation about her grandmother, Mrs. Ada Doss Campbell, whose life was tragically cut short in 1940 within Kentucky’s troubled mental health system.

Dr. Campbell brings more than 40 years of experience in education, social work, mental health, community development, and advocacy. Through her grandmother’s story, she invites us to listen to a voice from the past and consider the ways stories, music, memory, and history continue to shape our understanding of justice and human dignity.

Dr. Campbell will also share about Song Week, an upcoming celebration of song and storytelling that will feature her grandmother’s story through music and conversation. Come hear a story that has been carried across generations—and consider what it might still have to say to us today.

LUNCH & LEARN NOV 1: CHRISTIAN ZIONISM

What is Zionism? Is there a difference between Christian Zionism and Jewish Zionism? Is "anti-Zionism" antisemitic? What positions have been taken by the Presbyterian Church (USA) about all of this over the years? And why might all of this matter today? We'll explore these questions through a brief presentation, comments from panelists, and a time of discussion. This 'lunch and learn' opportunity is being led by members of the Presbyterian Advisory Council for Churches for Middle East Peace (cmep.org). They are in Louisville offering programs for Louisville Seminary and the Mid-Kentucky Presbytery.

HARVEY BROWNE PRESCHOOL NEWS

What a wonderful start to the 26/27 school year we have had! Over the course of the first month, we have eased into routines, made new friends, reconnected with old friends, and had so much fun playing and learning together.

At the preschool, our play-based curriculum allows children to learn in their most natural way-through play. Everything we do is rooted in play, which research has proven is the best way for young children to learn. However, play-based does not mean free-for-all! Our teachers plan engaging and exploratory activities with intent for their children. Essentially, they are creating a lab for their children to learn in a fun and natural way.

Building classroom communities is essential for year-long success; each classroom makes building that community a focus, especially the first few weeks of school. Our primary goal is for children to feel loved, seen, heard, and safe. When those pieces are present, children can learn. Our teachers are masters at creating an environment where all children are valued.

The start of this school year also brought with it excitement for the new playground! Like most construction projects, we hit a few roadblocks that set our timeframe back by 4 weeks. At the time of this writing, we are in our last stage and anxiously awaiting the new flooring to be poured. However, we are so very excited for all the children of Harvey Browne to enjoy this new space! Many thanks for your patience while the playground has been closed – we believe it was worth it!

We have so many wonderful things to look forward to this school year, most of all providing a preschool experience for 150 children rooted in love and respect. As always, we are grateful for the opportunity to serve as a mission of Harvey Browne Presbyterian Church – now in our 72nd year! It is going to be a great one!

With love,
Amy Squires, Director

HB WOMEN CAN TRAVEL TO GUATEMALA - FAITH STORIES PROJECT!

For over 20 years, Looking for Lilith Theatre company and First Presbyterian Church in Winchester, Virginia have been partnering with the Historias de Fe group and ecumenical organization CEDEPCA on the Faith Stories Project (FSP). The FSP brings together women in Guatemala and the U.S. by artistically exploring the complexities of how faith affects their lives. During our annual visits to Guatemala women from both countries share their stories and participate in the creation scenes based on those stories, a process that often provides deeper reflection on the experience. FSP is a relational mission project. Rather than focusing on physical work, it centers mutual support and encouragement, building self-esteem, and creating a sense of community for women of faith in both countries as we struggle to tear down barriers and explore how we are more alike than different. If this sounds like something you would like to be a part of, we would love for you to join us on our next trip, February 6-13 2027!! This year will will gather with our partners for a retreat and visit the community of one of our partners. You can learn more about the FSP here.
